

At Layston First School we believe that every child is a writer. We are passionate about developing every child's knowledge, motivation and confidence in their writing. We have chosen HFL Education's ESSENTIALWRITING as the basis of our writing curriculum for Reception – Year 4. This is an ambitious and progressive writing scheme which provides our children with opportunities and tools to write for a range of specific purposes and authentic audiences. As a result, our children feel inspired and ready to write high-quality outcomes within the classroom but also have the knowledge, strategies and confidence to choose to write in their own lives.

Writing Purpose		Reception	Years 1 & 2	Years 3 & 4
To entertain		✓	✓	✓
To inform		✓	✓	✓
To persuade				✓
To discuss

Each year group has 12-16 teaching units, all of which use diverse and high-quality literature as good examples of writing craft and to help to motivate or inspire children to write.

ESSENTIALWRITING is fully aligned with the National Curriculum for English including writing composition, vocabulary, grammar & punctuation for each year group. Each writing unit is progressively structured and centred around the different writing purposes: to entertain; to inform; to persuade and to discuss. The writing purposes are also progressively sequenced across the school (see table, left).

Children in Reception are not introduced to specific genres; instead, they take part in bookmaking projects to support their understanding that writing is a multi-sensory and joyous activity, that is purposeful. Within Year 1 – Year 6, genres linked to the writing purpose are studied across each year group as follows:

	Write to entertain	Write to inform	Write to persuade	Write to discuss
Year 1	Storyboard Short picture book Simple fairy tale Short story Poetry	Lists, labels and captions Instructions Rules Letter Recount Simple explanation/ fact file
Year 2	Picture book Short story Narrative based on real experiences Fairy tale/ Traditional tale Poetry	Instructions Letter Postcard Recount (inc. real events) Simple non-chronological report
Year 3	Narrative Setting-focused short story Personal narrative (memoir) Fable Poetry	Non-chronological report Instructions	Letter Speech
Year 4	Graphic novel Character-driven short story Poetry	Explanation Newspaper report/ Recount Non-chronological report	Letter Speech Travel leaflet

The information below outlines our approach to the teaching of writing in each year group, which encompasses the teaching of the statutory content as outlined within the National Curriculum for writing for key stage one (Year 1 – Year 2), lower key stage two (Year 3 – 4).

Alongside ESSENTIALWRITING, at Layston First School we have adopted Read Write Inc in Reception and Key Stage 1, and Twinkl Spelling in Key Stage 2 as the basis of our spelling curriculum. ESSENTIALWRITING supports our children to apply this learning in context and build their spelling confidence. Writing models reflect age-appropriate spelling objectives and children are taught how to monitor the accuracy of their writing. Handwriting is also taught. We have adopted Read Write Inc's Letter Village to ensure that every child gains sufficient fluency for writing, with knowledge of accurate letter formation and how to join letters so that they can meet the National Curriculum expectations for each key stage.

RECEPTION

Within the Early Years, children are taught that their writing is important and can be shared with people to communicate their thoughts, interests and ideas. This develops the children's earliest understanding of writing for an authentic purpose and audience, as they are invited to make their own books throughout the year within a writing community and share with their peers and loved ones. All bookmaking projects are based on the children's own experiences and ideas, with all adults involved in creating their own books too!

The writing process in the Early Years can look like this:

All children are given the opportunity to talk, draw, write and share within the Early Years setting, as part of the writing process. Drawing and writing will take the form of emergent writing and mark-making in the children's earlier stages of development whilst the children learn how to hear different sounds in words and form letters accurately during their reception year. All children are invited to share their ideas, their drawing and/or their writing every day, and to feel increasing self-esteem, motivation and belonging when their peers and adults want to hear what they want to say and what they want to write.

Year ONE

In Year 1, the children are always encouraged to write for an authentic audience and are introduced to the concept of writing to entertain and to inform their readers. Alongside their growing knowledge of how sounds are represented in writing (grapheme-phoneme correspondence, or GPCs), the children learn how to use this knowledge to write a wider range of vocabulary to support their own compositions. Simple sentence structure is emphasised, along with use of spaces between words, capital letters and full stops, to help the reader know where one idea ends and another begins. The children will also start to extend the range of punctuation applied by using question marks and exclamation marks in their writing. They will become familiar with a range of genres, such as narratives, recipes, letters and explanations, and enjoy playing with language whilst writing their own poetry.

Year TWO

In Year 2, the children build upon their understanding of writing to inform and to entertain their audience. Use of sentence structure is consolidated further, and the children are taught how to join their ideas to create greater variety and interest for the reader. Punctuation to demarcate sentences is regularly taught and reviewed, and the children are introduced to using a comma to separate items in a list and apostrophes to show where letters are missing (contraction) or singular possession. A range of wider vocabulary is taught and encouraged within the children's writing, to support more detailed description, along with the use of adjectives and adverbs to add detail to nouns and verbs. Children in Year 2 are taught about a wider range of genres to suit their writing purpose, such as a non-chronological report and instructions when writing to inform. To support their understanding of how to entertain their reader, they are also taught about some figurative language techniques, such as the use of simile and alliteration.

In ESSENTIALWRITING lessons, the stages of the writing process are given dedicated teaching time to enable all children to behave as writers. They learn about these vital stages of writing and, within key stage one, they are given time to collect their ideas, plan and compose their writing orally before writing. They are given regular opportunities to share their writing by reading and rereading it aloud. Children regularly discuss what they have written with their teacher and their peers to ensure their meaning is clear. They are taught to proof-read to make corrections in spelling, grammar and punctuation so that their readers can follow their writing with clarity. Vitally, within all writing units, the children are given time to publish their writing to share it and celebrate their success with their intended audience.

Year THREE

In Year 3, the children consolidate their understanding of writing to entertain and to inform. They will be introduced to writing to persuade for the first time. In doing so, they will develop a keener awareness of the reader, by considering how to move and convince their audience to act and/or change their mind. They will encounter new genres, such as personal narratives (memoirs), fables, persuasive speeches and other sub-genres of poetry (such as calligrams and kennings), and revise their genre knowledge of instructions, letters and non-chronological reports. They will revisit learning from Year 2 to ensure that they are familiar with simple sentence structure and build upon this by using a greater range of conjunctions to join their ideas in writing. Accurate punctuation of dialogue is introduced in Year 3, along with the use of prepositions and adverbs to tell the reader when, where and how things happened. Children in Year 3 will also learn how to structure their writing, by including paragraphs and/or headings and subheadings to support the reader to navigate the writing more effectively.

Year FOUR

In Year 4, the children continue to write to entertain and inform their readers and consolidate their knowledge of writing to persuade. They will encounter new genres, such as newspaper reports and travel leaflets, and revise their understanding of familiar genres (such as an explanation or non-chronological report) and apply more sophisticated language choices. Learning from Year 3 will be revised and consolidated regularly within writing lessons, to ensure that children are confident with using a range of vocabulary and punctuation to support their intended effect on the reader. Children in Year 4 are also taught about a greater variety of ways to begin sentences, such as with a fronted adverbial to link back to a previous sentence or paragraph and/or to move the writing on for the reader. A greater range and/or usage of punctuation is taught in Year 4, such as the use of a comma to separate groups of words or phrases within a sentence and the use of an apostrophe to signify plural possession. Dialogue punctuation is reviewed to include the use of paragraphing and commas before a reporting clause. Children in Year 4 are also taught about a wider range of figurative language techniques, such as personification and metaphor.

In lower key stage two, the children continue to discuss and record their ideas for writing and 'read as writers' to study writerly craft and apply similar techniques to their own writing. Oral rehearsal for writing is embedded throughout the writing teaching sequence and the children build a varied and rich vocabulary and increasing range of sentence structures to use within their compositions. Dedicated time is provided to teach the children how to evaluate and edit their writing, thinking carefully about their language choices and the intended effect on the reader. Proof-reading strategies are used to check for spelling and punctuation errors to ensure that their final versions are ready to be shared with their audience.
